DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-11 are pending in this application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Goldman et al. (4,619,840). Goldman discloses a low pressure chemical vapor deposition process of depositing a refractory metal by introducing tungsten carbonyl through a conduit into the deposition chamber (col.2 lines 29-51). The temperature can be 300°C and the pressure can be 750 mTorr (col.2 lines 47-55). In one embodiment, the volume of tungsten carbonyl is accurately controlled using a vacuum pump and a mass flow controlled source of an inert gas in order to obtain the desired partial pressure (col.2 line 65 – col.3 line 6). It should be noted that the flow of tungsten carbonyl will inherently lead to a smaller partial pressure at the end than at the beginning. However, the reference remains silent on conducting step a) such that no substantial deposition occurs.

Art Unit: 1762

It is noted that Goldman teaches that deposition occurs when precursors react at a specific temperature and pressure. One skilled in the art realizes that if deposition is not desired, one withholds a precursor or provides an inadequate temperature or pressure. It would have been obvious to withhold a critical parameter with the expectation of avoiding deposition at the times in which deposition is not required.

The limitations of claims 2-11 have been addressed above.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-11 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-53 of U.S. Patent No. 6,924,223.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the elimination of pulsing is an obvious variation.
